

WEB SITE OF THE WEEK

By Angie Corritone, Hidden Hills Elementary

September 14, 2007

TITLE: Just For Kids Who Love Books
AUTHOR: Alan Brown, retired librarian
URL: <http://www.alanbrown.com/index.html>

NOTES: A simple, but well-done site. A "hidden jewel." Kids 8 - 14 submit and post messages about books they have read, authors they enjoy, etc. All visitors can read the messages and respond. This is a closely-monitored and organized site that attracts users from around the world. Grown-ups should read the well-thought-out description for more info about children's privacy, submissions accepted, and general guidelines:
http://www.alanbrown.com/JustForKids/More_For_Grown_ups.html

DON'T MISS:

Great comments from kids

http://www.alanbrown.com/JustForKids/More_Great_Comments.html

Monthly (Daily!) contest:

http://www.alanbrown.com/JustForKids/More_Contest_Enter.html

Read messages:

<http://www.alanbrown.com/JustForKids/MenuRead.html>

Reading websites (authors, magazines, Narnia, etc.):

<http://www.alanbrown.com/JustForKids/MenuVisit.html>

Writing tips:

http://www.alanbrown.com/JustForKids/Visit_Tips.html